GROUP HISTORICAL RECORDS (AUGUST 1944)

As I pick up my pen to put down the events of August for the 49th, it shapes up to be one of the most pleasant months. There are many reasons for the new high in morale.

Living conditions constantly improved during the month. The highlight of this was the splended cooperation shown by the officers in construction of a club. A 30' X 60' log frame with a tarp roof housed what we feel is the "best damn bar in this theatre". Indirect lighting through the use of a parachute ceiling makes for coziness and coolness. A ping-pong table, magazine rack and the inevitable poker table complete the fixtures. A gala open house late in the month saw Headquarters and the Squadron officers joined together in song and festivity. The next day the clubhouse still stood intact so it was agreed that "she met the test".

On the 28th of the month two unbelievable events occurred. The homeward trek of the long sweated June list of the mythical rotation plan began. On this day we bid farewell to Major Robert V. McHale (01699046) of Harrisonburg, Ia., 1st Lieut. George G. Pegg (02034453) of Eugene, Oregon, M/Sgt. Robert F. Burton (14042960) of Ieland, Mississippi, M/Sgt. Francis J. McCarthy (39011939) and S/Sgt. George L. McCarthy (39011937), twin brothers of Berkeley, California, T/Sgt. William G. Henricks (6919193) of Antigo, Wisconsin, and S/Sgt. Freddie J. Hebert (14042951) of Whitesville, Louisiana, all from Group Headquarters.¹ Thus, hope springs anew among the remaining "old timers" who climbed aboard ship on January 12, 1942, to come over with the original 49ers.

The second event of that day was the appearance of beer. Another myth materialized as the men eagerly carted off "13 each, beer, canned" from the supply tent.

1st Lieut. John A. Edwards (0649626) removed his single silver bar, replacing it with the silver ditto mark, and the promotion was announced of S/Sgt. Robert C. Blakenship (35213262) of the Medical Department to Technical Sergeant.¹ 1st Lieut. John K. Glover (0561101) returned from his convalescent leave (due to injuries received in the bombing raid of 12 June 1944 at Biak) and was assigned to Group Headquarters Intelligence.²

Toward the end of the month election ballots began to arrive for the state and political discussions could be heard on the line, and in the chow hall. One man, Corporal David W. Mullen (31004779) went us all one better when, through the use of cigarette bribes, he had eight natives running about the camp shouting: "Roosevelt for President! Roosevelt bagoose!"

On August 29th it happened. A B-25 crashed along the shore after limping over our camp attempting to land on Mokmer Drome. The straining B-25's pass too close for comfort over our camp area and returning planes make their final approach overhead. This is the only undesirable feature of our campsite.

Toward the end of the month the Headquarters and Squadron volley ball leagues were into full heated swing. In a challenge game our "Wheels" team composed of our best officers swamped the stars of the 7th Squadron officers' league.

The 7th Squadron pulled the unusual for the month when they captured their own Jap prisoner.¹

Down on the line the 8th Squadron continued experiments with fuel tanks and successfully attached a 200 gallon, P-47 external tank to the P-40.²

From an operational standpoint, dive-bombing took the spotlight. On August 14 two weeks of dive-bombing started, which for weight and concentration far surpassed our past efforts.³

The 8th Squadron P-40's dropped 4 tons of 500 pound demos on Korido village on Soepiori Island. On August 16 the 8th hit the Siawer area, ten miles Northwest of Mokmer with 4 tons of 500 pounders and two dozen 20 pound frag bombs. The pilots reported the frag clusters covered a greater area than the demos in a densely wooded area. Napido village area on Soepiori Island was hit with eight tons 250 and 500 pounders, and 10,335 rounds of strafing .50 caliber.

Nabire strip, on the southern shore of Geelvink Bay, where Jap planes were believed to stage for night raids, was plastered by the combined strength of the 7th, 8th and 9th Fighter Squadrons of this Group, and all three squadrons of the 475th Fighter Group. The strip was rendered definitely unserviceable.

On the south coast of New Guinea # 2 strip at Utarom was knocked out. The 8th Squadron lost 2nd Lieut. Leighton R. McCabe (0697216) on this mission.

Thus in closing, the dive-bombing activities for the month we might add a humorous trend. Captain Richard P. Polhamus Jr. (0794492) made a daring bomb run and at exactly the right moment pulled the release---of his belly tank! So, to show that he could correct a mistake the Captain made another run and placed the bomb in the center of the target.

On August 4th the 9th Squadron P-38's escorted B-24's to Liang on Ambon Island, encountering six enemy Zeros. 1st Lieut. Charles I. McElroy (0749024) chalked up his second air victory.

The 9th Squadron showed what a P-38 could do as a bomber when they placed eight out of twelve one half ($\frac{1}{2}$) ton bombs in a float plane base at Halong on Ambon Island on August 28th.

The month of August closed with what I feel was the highest morale shown for many months.

from him and at exactly the same time the release of his belly tank! No, to show that he could control a release the same manner you can release the bomb in the center of the target.

In August 1944 the 7th Bombardment Group was ordered to move on Japan Island, concentrating six heavy bombers, but later, December 1, to move (U.S. 1st) division in the second air strike.

The 2nd division showed that a 1-35 could do as a bomber when they placed eight out of twelve one half (1/2) ton bombs in a direct release mode at Nakagawa on Japan Island on August 23rd.

The fourth of August showed that I feel the 1st division would show for many months.
